Why I Wrote This Book

Let me be sincere and honest with you from the start: I don't give a fuck what you think of my view on the world and women. I know I start every book like this - that's because I like it that way. This book represents what I discovered having had many relationships and having had endless amounts of one-night-stands with hot girls and other fun encounters. In this spirit, if you are a yoga-practicing vegan: fuck off. If you are a feminist: fuck off. I don't care what most people think because they are just talking, while I am the artist that fights in the arena. I put in thousands of hours of work in the form of tears, hard breaks, hard dick, orgasms and sperm production. I did it so much, my balls started complaining. I never asked you to buy or read the book. I take the money, but please keep your opinion to yourself - nobody cares. You think Elon Musk cares what I think about spaceships - that's right, not a single fuck will be given on any of my thoughts. If you don't like my thoughts, put the book away. If you have different or opposing views, that's good. Write a book about it and put yourself out, or, shut the fuck up. Until you put yourself on the line, you are as important and meaningful as a YouTube comment on a viral video. You are a cockroach unless you put yourself out there and hold yourself accountable publicly. Glad we talked about it.

I am not saying that my views are right or the only views: I am saying those are my views based on real life experience and I think that they resonate with a very large proportion of the male and female population. Yes, most girls I talk to and seduce absolutely love the things I say: as a matter of fact, they fuck me because of my views on the world. Of course, the beta metrosexual dude that secretly takes a dick up the ass once a month in a dark Soho corner and the feminist vegan Yoga chick that fondles the fanny of underage school girls during lunch break might disagree with me. Good! I don't want to agree with people that are fake. I don't buy their fake image. They are also driven by survival and replication deep down - they just want to make you believe they are better people than you and me. Possibly, a priest would be the sincerest and cleanest person in the world, or would he? Have a look at the fake wholesome image of a homosexual paedophile Bishop like Peter Ball. Cute, isn't he?

Peter Ball - British Bishop in the Church of England and Convicted Sex Offender

By and large, this book is a testament to pro-human relationships in the way it was intended by nature: I am a scientist at heart and I believe in Darwinism. It's by far the best model we found for explaining the origin of species and it stood the test of time. Men and women are not the same. Last time I checked I had two bold beautiful balls dangling between my thighs and my girlfriend didn't - if you girl has a set of balls between her legs and they are not yours, then you are either drunk in Thailand and you will regret it tomorrow, or you are into some kinky threesome shit that I don't want to know more about. We need to realize that nature gave men and women specific roles that we need to fulfill in order to procreate and spread human intelligence throughout the universe. That's why we are here on earth: yes, the answer is 42.

So please if you're one of those people that bought into the media brainwashing, political correctness and the idea that men and women are the same, drop the book, make yourself an avocado sandwich, have a (diet) coke and smile and shut the fuck up.

Everyone else, please go ahead, learn, laugh and grow as a human being.

Extreme Work Ethics & Approaching Girls Direct and Sexual - Why You Must Do It?

The biggest revelation I had after having taught 100s of men in person and via video conferencing is this: it's great to read the books, to watch the videos and to go out and do it yourself. But, and this is a big but (no pun intended), there is a million miles between what you do and think is necessary to get results and what I do and what is truly required to get results. Why do I say this? I say this because I watched guys that thought they were already good come out with me and almost started to cry after 5h of training. Their eyes got bloodshot, they wanted to take breaks, they didn't want to open and they wanted to quit. "Tony can we have a break?"

was the most regular sentence I heard: all the questions around openers, transitions and so on disappeared in the face of extreme work ethics. It's overwhelming for 99% of people. Seduction is like special forces: it requires you to go way beyond what you think is mentally and physically possible in order to get results. When you think you are done, your tank is still half full. You just have no work ethics. You are weak like a fat kid that doesn't play sports. Accept it, fatty! You are fucking fat, lazy and mediocre, just like the girls you fuck. Ok, that's a bit rude, but probably true.

Measuring Seduction Progress: The Flat Staircase

Conversion means that you turn an approach into sex. Beginners do tons of approaches and get few girls into bed. Hence, they have low conversion. The conversion rate can be expressed as a percentage: i.e. how many girls do you have sex with out of the girls you approach. E.g. if you approach 100 girls and had sex with 5 girls, then your conversion rate is 5%. Some girls you will have had to date multiple times before you had sex, other girls you will have had sex with the same day you met them and many girls will drop out before you have sex with them (e.g. only come to an instant date). That's why you have different conversion rates for different stages of the 3 Step Logistics (see book: SDL King). The reason it is called a conversion funnel is because the conversion rates will drop the further down you get to the stages of the seduction process. Image it like a narrowing mountain pass or a coffee filter: it's triangular in shape and it gets narrower the further you get into it. The top of the funnel is the largest point because that is where you generate all your leads (by approaching). The narrowest part is the bottom of the funnel which is Venue 3 (closing location); this is where you convert the approaches into sex. You may approach 100 girls, go on 15 instant dates, go on 5 Venue 2s, 3 girls end up on your couch and 2 of them you close. As you see, the funnel gets narrower: 15% instant date you, 5%, go for a second drink with you, 3% end up on your coach and finally 2% of girls you approach you have sex with.

Measuring your conversion funnel all the way down to the bedroom is very important. Why is it so important? Because it allows you to pinpoint where your seduction process needs to improve: i.e. your sticking points. Those are your pain points and when you add reflection to pain you get progress. If you don't measure, then you don't know where you are going wrong and you keep making the same mistake: that's the definition of ignorance (or stupidity to be less politically correct). As a matter of fact, I regard this process so important that I made an infield app that does exactly that. It's free and it works on any browser. You can get access by clicking on this link: infield-app.anthonyhustle.com

In general, the 3 Step Logistics conversion funnel has distinct stages. We measure the conversion rate at each stage to understand how strong our skill level is. Let's lay out conversion rates by stage (no pun intended):

The Killzone Sequence

To get the girl into the Killzone, it's optimal to use the Killzone Sequence. Now, you always seed and then establish the frames, but you also care about the sequence of the frames. The Killzone Sequence dictates how to establish proper frame control

Male Leader Frame in Feminine Cultures

If you have experience with feminine cultures (culture where men and women are equal) then you know that girls from these cultures can react negatively to the Male Leader Frame. That is the case because they were raised to be independent and to not believe in the standard family model: feminine cultures believe that guys and girls should have equal roles: share caring for the baby equally, earn equal amounts of money or have at least the same chance to do so, have the same duties inside the house, have the same education level and so on. When an alpha male comes along and establishes the Male Leader Frame, it either ends in disagreement or it is brushed to the side quickly. Either way, it doesn't get a standing ovation. This is often the case with Scandinavia women for example.

The question is: how do you then establish active frame control when you don't have one of the main frames at your disposal? The answer is deep inside the girls (pun intended). The part of the male leader frame that girls from a feminine culture reject is part that society invented and that overwrites her natural Darwinian inclination: it's the social concept of equality of the sexes that was invented by society. It's not natural: it's horseshit that society piled on top of beautiful raw Natural Selection. This is all prefrontal cortex shit basically. It's the girl's logical brain. It's not the part of her brain we want to tackle. The part we want to tackle is the part that makes girls horny when looking at an alpha male; the part that is burned into the vegetative nervous system: the part that she cannot control. That is the part we therefore focus on - the societal prefrontal cortex shit she learned from her environment, we simply skip. We don't just skip it, but we put it to rest so we can bypass this annoying artificial cultural filter. We bypass and then we rely on the good old reptilian brain: the Amygdala. The part of the brain that makes her want to suck dick even though she is a yoga-practicing vegan management consultant.

Two Ears and One Mouth

God gave you two ears and one mouth for a reason: you are supposed to listen twice as much as you speak. Most guys are so nervous when they talk to a girl that they completely miss what she is trying to communicate. Then they collect her number or even go for an instant date with her, just to find out later that she will never call back again. Why is that? That is the case, because the girl is nervous too and she doesn't want to be rude: most girls are super socially savvy, trying to avoid conflict at any cost. Their moms taught them this: be nice to everyone. So girls hand out numbers and/or come to instant dates, but deep down, just like a child that is put on the spot for making a mess, girls often lie to get out of the situation. It's perfect: just be nice, play along and then get out of the situation. She gives out a fake number, she goes on a 5min coffee without being attracted and, to put the nail into the seduction coffin, you end up as one of her thousands of Instagram fanboys. Happy fucking birthday, you are on your way of creating a very frustratingly Steep Staircase.

The truth is that most guys are dishonest with themselves. If they listened to the girls body language and words, they would see that she is not attracted from a million miles away. She is merely playing along to not be rude or she has time to waste. This is the worst thing that can happen to you: it's worse than a straight blow out, much worse. How do you avoid this from happening?

Relative Local Anchoring

Do you remember the days in high school when there seemed to be this one beautiful girl that everyone loved and that one cool guy that every guy wanted to be? That was total horseshit: your brain was playing tricks on you. That guy and that girl were the one-eyed among the blind. In reality, nobody in your high school was cool or accomplished in any way, shape or fashion. All losers, including yourself. Little teenage dickheads and underage girls. Does this offend you? Good, because let me explain: they were the most beautiful, smart and most popular people in your view, because they were the best in their respective high schools. Your high school may have consisted of 2000 pupils - maybe less. So those people you admired managed to stand out among 2000 people - not only people, but 2000 teenagers. It served them well by the way. They enjoyed a good time in high school. What they unknowingly took advantage of is a relative local anchoring bias. They were relatively beautiful, smart, funny, and good at football among those 2000 people. That's why they were popular. However, if you threw them into the mix with the elite of the world, they would dismally fail. They would be pooped out as trash. Let me explain how you can exploit this to your advantage.

The No Game Fallacy of Frigid Cultures and Small Cities

The possibly worst place in the world to seduce women would be a small village in some ultra fundamentalist Muslim country where women get stoned for adultery. As guys move towards this combination of small city with frigid culture, guys tend to change their game. The limiting belief that the Straight Line Seduction Model does not work in such cultures (i.e. it's too forward, the girls are local and need more comfort, the girls only meet guys from their social circle etc) opens the door for fear. The fear of blowing the set out. The fear of losing that one girl that you worked so hard for. You start taking numbers, you start doing many dates before you pull and you start compromising the model. You go full chump mode. Let me explain my mindset when gaming in frigid cultures and small cities.

Synchronous-Asynchronous Game

One of Bruce Lee's famous quotes is this:
“Before I learned the art, a punch was just a punch, and a kick, just a kick. After I learned the art, a punch was no longer a punch, a kick, no longer a kick. Now that I understand the art, a punch is just a punch and a kick is just a kick.” This is what happens when you go from unconsciously incompetent to unconsciously competent. It's the process of internalizing technique to the point where your body executes on the highest level without thinking. What most people don't understand, but what is buried in Bruce Lee's quote, is this that there is an intermediate step: "After I learned the art, a punch was no longer a punch, a kick, no longer a kick." When you are a bloody beginner you just throw shit at the wall and see what sticks; like a child. You feel good and just go with it without thinking: you are shit at what you do but you are in the moment. Then a pro comes along and points out what you need to change: you become self-aware and self-conscious. You start thinking while executing. You are pulled out of the moment and into your head. Now, a punch is no longer a punch and a kick is no longer a kick. Then, after many hours of training, some technique sinks in and you do not think about it anymore: the best example is riding a bicycle. Do you think about how to ride a bicycle? Of course not, but children try really hard when they start learning how to ride a bike. The same applies to seduction: you need to first learn the technique: all the lines, moves and patterns as described in my books, The Chemistry of Seduction and The Bible. In this learning process, you lose being in the moment. You lose “vibe” for the lack of a better word. Later, you internalize every bit of technique and every element until you are unconsciously competent and in the present again. Let me explain to you how this process works and how you master the transition from unconsciously incompetent to unconsciously competent to master seduction all the way.

The Flywheels

As soon as you fluctuate between frustration and hope, when it comes to seduction, you are in a flywheel. Your head is spinning and you are losing control of the situation. This can be the case because a girl's got tight game and/or is subjecting you to push-pull tactics, or it can be because your setup is psychologically unintelligent: think of a guy that's hooked on slot machines, sipping "free" alcohol feeding the slot machine his hard-earned cash. His set up sucks dick and it's running his life. There are various flywheels you can enter along the seduction process, from taking numbers, to short dates that lead to nothing, to relationships. Let me explain how to avoid these flywheels and how to keep a clear head when seducing and dating ultra hot girls around the world.

Breakup Bounce-backs

One of the hardest things to do is to get back out there after breaking up with a girl you loved (or you thought you loved). It's definitely a ton easier if you break up with her, since it was your choice in this case. But either way it can be hard: the novelty of being free and single can wear off and when you are alone at home or feel like spending time in bars and clubs with meaningless encounters. Alcohol and a pointless pool of average pussy (or a lack thereof) can do the rest to put you into depression mode. The big issue underlying these feelings is human's tendency to loss aversion (i.e. prospect theory) and our Maslowian needs for love and human intimacy. Once we feel loss in combination with lack of interconnectedness, our reptile brains rings the alarm bells: what the fuck happened? We used to fuck and cuddle this cute girl that took care of us. She was perfect. Where is she? Now this is an illusion. You are in love with an illusion. This girl didn't love you or else she wouldn't have left you. Or, you didn't love her or else you wouldn't have left her. Let me explain how to mentally deal with this illusion to get you back on track to dating girls that are 10x hotter and nicer than any girl you dated so far in your life.

The Straight Line Seduction Master Plan

To have unlimited sex with very hot girls all the time, you need two conditions to be present. Either condition is required to be present, but neither condition is sufficient. Further, the only way to turn seduction from a pain in the ass into an exhilarating and fun experience is if you have both conditions present at the same time. If you truly want to get the hottest girls in the world (not everyone wants that by the way), you need to understand what it takes to execute Straight Line Seduction at the highest level. Let me explain to you right now how I do it myself.

The Quitting Game Fallacy

So you followed the Master Plan, you fucked a couple dozen models, you traveled the world and you feel like you did it all. When do you quit then? First, I only consider someone a master if he fucks three unrelated models from cold approaching within one quarter (3 months). Models, influencers, playboy models: it's all the same. I mean girls that earn their living from their beauty. However, no money, no social circle and no status games allowed to seduce these girls. Just pure cold approaching: night or daytime, I don't mind. Of course, to do this you need to have what I described in the last chapter. If you can have sex with three models in three months, you know that you are capable of getting hot girls any time you want.

Congratulations, you did master seduction if that's your reality. Right at that moment when you achieve that goal, you are the most susceptible to making a massive mistake: thinking that you are the top player that can get top-notch girls on command. Easily done because that's what it feels like. And then you fall for one of these girls because trust me, they are very seductive themselves. Most likely, you fall for one of those girls before you manage to close three in a row in three months. Especially the first time around as you are just blown away by their beauty and energy. Either way, you will fall for one of them and that's when the whole ordeal unfolds in front of your and your friends' eyes. Of course, you will drop all girls in your phone. Then you will stop going out to game. She will of course still have her social media and events she goes to so she will keep feeling sexy and sought after. She will get approached all the time: she will stay a 10, while you revert back to chump mode by construction: all your power was derived from your ability to cold approach and to seduce. All your abundance was derived from keeping the pipeline of hot girls full by going out every week. This is all gone now: as a matter of fact, the girl might tell you that she knows that she is not the first girl you approached and fucked the way you did her and that it's despicable, while of course it's ok for her to sell her ass on social media even when she is with you. Slowly but surely, she is wrapping you up: you are about to enter a world of pain where she maintains 10 status and you revert to suckballs chode mode. Not only does it fuck with your relationship as she feels the lack of attraction, but it fucks with you as a man as you lose respect for yourself - the loss of the once so prevalent feeling of abundance shrinks your balls to peanut size. So how do we deal with this situation?

Seducing The Top 0.1% & Love on First Sight Fallacy

Seducing an average girl is easy because we don't give a damn about the outcome. As a matter of fact, we probably are sick of her after sex. Seducing a top model is hard, because we really care about the outcome: it's our dream to have sex with a top model. From a physical point of view, there is no difference between an average girl and a top model: they are both made out of 90% water, they both have two breasts, two eyes, two legs and one pussy. These girls will still react the same way to seduction material. What's different is our interpretation of the girl: one we don't care about and one we are nervous around and potentially intimidated by. The reason we are nervous is because we are mentally not prepared to lose her. We care about getting her and the thought of losing her is gut wrenching. Another one of those girls that I want and cannot get. This is exactly where we have leverage to turn this situation around. Let me explain to you how to mentally prepare for dating the hottest and most sought after girls: your personal dream girls. The girls that make you cream your boxers when they walk past you in the streets.

Girls that Seemingly Give You Nothing - Getting the Desert Wet

You have been on the date for 1 hour and the girl gives you zero. Let me give you a quick trick before I start the chapter: don't try to fuck her. Don't make it your goal to fuck her. Make it your goal to get her into your flat. Play the game of you having to get her into your flat: once she is in your flat, you won and, trust me, most often it's game on then: you end up fucking her.

One of the conclusions I drew in The Close is that there are some girls that don't go into the Killzone no matter what you do. That is valid and sometimes the case. However, I would argue that I didn't fully explore the idea of girls that are just not reacting in an extroverted fashion to verbal A-E. Some girls don't react the same to words as they do react to actions. Of course, it's less fun if the girl is quiet, but you can still close. Those girls could be shy, they could be afraid of being in the spotlight or they could just be introverted. They may still be very interested and soaking wet - as a matter of fact, shallow waters run deep. You just need to find a way to get access.

The scenario is actually super frustrating and I struggled with it for years. I think many guys struggle and conclude: she was just boring or not interested. Often, that is not true. I first came up with the Kamikaze move - that was my solution: read it up in The Close. The Kamikaze move is required if she really doesn't react to anything. Then I would rather burn the house down than let her off the hook without trying. However, often girls are just not reacting to verbal A-E. For those girls, there is a better solution. I will explain now how to spot and seduce girls that are secretly in love with you but give you zero verbal feedback. It's a true innovation as many girls exhibit exactly this behavior.

How to Game Smart & Efficiently During Winter and When Everything is Closed (Covid Pandemic)

We all love the old “good weather seducers”. The girl is wearing a short skirt, staring up into the clouds as if she was totally confused by her new surroundings, birds chirping, while she is ambling down a cobblestone street, looking ever so vulnerable and seductive. It’s a warm summer evening, you swoop in and 45min later this 19y old goddess is sucking you off, while you are texting your regular whether you will have Sushi or Lebanese for take-away tonight. Yeah, sure, and then you woke up!

Truth is, most guys only go out when the sun is out and the conditions are right. Going to Russia in winter is a no-go for most guys. That's why they all go at the same time to the same place. They all go to Prague, Warsaw, St Petersburg, Minsk and the alike; but only when the weather is nice. That's when you see hordes of losers on the street trying to hit on girls. Obviously, it's futile as they don't have what it takes. And by the way, that's why I never cared about other guys gaming around me: it's meaningless as I will utterly crush them out of the girl's mind as soon as I open. His approach will become a distant memory - a nuisance at best, but most likely just another brain fart of hers. So what I will write next is not related to competition by other seducers - I don't feel any competition. What I am writing next is about fishing where the fish are and putting yourself in a scenario in which you have unlimited choice of hot girls; because that is what matters. What doesn't matter is whether it is sunny, rainy, middle of December, or hailing fucking golf balls.

Characteristics of a Dream Woman

Let's assume now you fucked your brains out, are tired of drowning in a pointless pool of model pussy: i.e. you are ready to settle and have family or just enjoy the good life with your wife. How do you choose that woman? Of course, it depends on what you like in a woman, appearance wise as well as character wise. If you like self-determined blondes, you are better off looking in Scandinavia than in the Republic of Kongo. However, when choosing a dream girl, a girl that you can marry, there are a set of objective criteria and trade-offs that are not obvious on the surface. Furthermore, to find out those criteria, you need to fail at relationships. Not only does it hurt emotionally, but it's a slow process. You can't just have 5 relationships in one year and learn everything about relationships in that one year. It takes decades to figure out what matters and it's a matter of taste and character: iteration speed is very slow. So let me save you a couple decades right here and now.

I will write this chapter from my perspective: by that, I mean I will write this chapter as a review of my past failed relationships to figure out what type of girl I want to settle with.

Disclaimer: I am at a stage in my life where I am ready to settle with the right girl. I won't compromise as I would rather fuck a lot of hot girls than waste my time with a girl that's not right for me in the long run. This is my thought process:

Sheep-Sheepdog Theory

There are two types of people in this world: sheep and sheepdogs. 90% of people are sheep. They look up to a leader for direction and follow their advice more or less blindly. They trust a person and then follow. It's a natural human tendency to follow: that's evolution and Darwinism. In The Close I write about it at length. Signs of being a sheep are:

preferring to work in a large company with hierarchy and under a boss, unwillingness to do things that are considered risky by conventional wisdom, being socially adjusted, friendly and finding it easy to fit in across all types of social circles, not rocking the boat too much and therefore not getting into trouble too often, a MBA from a top business school, inability to make big decisions quickly, slow to change habits such as country of domicile. To find typical characteristics of a sheepdog, you can just invert that list. Read it back and think of the opposite for each item to see the difference. Very often men are just caught in a commitment to a job, woman, mortgage, family and so on and are suppressing their “sheepdoggedness” due to that commitment bias.

Homebuilder-Explorer Theory

In general, there are two types of people: people that want to explore and conquer and people that want to settle and build. The explorers go abroad to study, travel and have a great time finding out about the world. America is a distillation of the human spirit of exploration: that's why it's always been attractive to me. Explorers are usually not too connected to the people and culture they grew up with. For example, I am glad to be German, but I despise the German attitude towards innovation, progress and following your dreams. The German "work hard and don't dream too much" attitude is offensive to humanity in my point of view. That's a topic for another book maybe. On the other hand, Homebuilders are the opposite of explorers. They are connected to the people and area they grew up in. They need this environment to feel mentally stable and they feel much less comfortable or even threatened when being abroad in an unknown environment. They like speaking their mother tongue and they want to be close to their parents and childhood friends. All of this provides them the mental comfort and safety they need to relax. Once this is taken away from them, they feel threatened and uneasy. From this perspective, let me explain to you what exactly you want to look for in a girl in order to live a life that's rich and fulfilling from a male perspective. There are some very dangerous pitfalls and you want to avoid them as it can cost you decades of your best years as a man.

Excitement-Balance Theory

Under certain conditions, excitement gets beaten out of the relationship: women will be women so they will have emotional reactions which cause excitement or drama. But there are some women that have no true passion. They are generally people with little drive and ambition. And the more likely and less forgiving explanation is that they are lazy fucks that want to live the good life without working. Hence, the most important aspect to look out for when picking a woman is that she has passion, not the right type of passion. If she has passion for sucking black dicks, you are in trouble. Let me explain what I look for in terms of passion when picking the right girl.

Love Taker-Love Giver Theory

I once had sex with a hot young Italian girl (actually, more than once but it sounds like a good beginning to a sentence). After sex she told me: “It’s ok for me because I love myself more than anybody else.” This sentence made me think for a second: it took away all the neediness that young girls usually exhibit when you fuck them really well and they fall into your reality. It was a very healthy mindset she exhibited: anybody who derives love from the external is at the whims of their environment. I then dated at least two girls that, even though I had a strong connection with them, I realized that they also loved themselves more than me. What struck me is that I realized that there are people that love themselves more than they love others and those people are healthy. People that love others more than they love themselves are sick or inexperienced. Many girls I had had sex and relationships with before exhibited the this sick type of behavior. They followed and loved to a degree that they would rather hurt themselves staying in a dysfunctional relationship than cutting the ties. At the core of it, self-love (no, I don't mean that thing that you do every morning and night in front of your laptop) is healthy and the right thing to do. There is no person in the world that can make you happy. Happiness is a choice and it's a habit. You can choose to be happy or unhappy: it's only in the hand of others to make you happy or unhappy if you allow them to obtain this power. Hence, for you as a person, you need to acquire the wisdom that the young Italian girl had acquired: love yourself more than anybody else. Picture a glass of water: you can't share a half empty glass of water - it will never be enough for everyone. Your glass of water needs to be so full that it's overflowing. Water in this case is the amount of love you have within yourself. Don't try to make others fill your glass with water - it's your job to fill it so much that it spills over so you can share the love with others. The biggest issue arises when you do not realize what puts water into your glass and what empties your glass. We all need to fill our glass so it overflows: some people fill their glass by giving love to others and some people fill their glass by taking love from others. Just make sure you realize how you fill your glass of water and then pick the right woman so your glass stays full. This is what I will explain to you next: how to pick the woman that keeps your glass full of love.

Limitless Sex Theory

This is an easy one: if you don't want to have sex with a woman, there is no relationship. No ifs, no buts and no ands. You don't fuck, you don't date, period. The trick is to want to keep fucking her. We've all fucked a girl and then lost interest by the third date. The attraction turns into disinterest or even disgust: it's not about her, it could happen with any other girl. As a matter of fact, it happens with most other girls. So sorry to disappoint, sex it's not like pizza: it's not still good even when it's bad. Let me explain to you why it's important pick a girl that you want to fuck all the time, rather than a girl that's just "hot". And then let me explain to you how to cultivate the right mindset to achieve this goal and not get trapped in Flywheels all the time. Again, there are many traps and this will save you years of your youth as a man.

Long-term Beauty Theory

Your desire for beauty will never die (as a man). That's why 80 year old guys date 20 year old models. Beauty will vanish with age. I used to say that men age like wine: they get better with age. While women, they just age. Jokes aside, I want a woman that looks great when she gets older. Sharone Stone is a great example of a well-aging woman. And that is actually already the main point: you want a girl that looks good in her older days. Let me explain to you what to look out for in a woman: if you pick the wrong woman as your wife, you could be dating a negative, ugly and low-energy bitch in five to ten years. Hope you are ready to whip out the wallet over the very expensive divorce. Or, just save yourself the pain and read this chapter.

Resourceful Organizer Theory

A big warning sign is when you are dating a girl that has no feeling for the value of stuff. Even worse when she is not the breadwinner, but in general it is bad. For example, if she wants to go out to eat all the time, throws away things that could be reused (nope, condoms do not count in this category, but for example grocery shopping bags), wastes money such as keeping the entire house lit all day long, has to get her nails done twice a week and the alike. Further, it's a bad sign if she is not organized: the house is messy, she can never find things that you are looking for and things like hygienic products such as toothpaste always look messy/disgusting. In other words, the household is not in order. Let me explain to you how to filter out girls that are posing as good wives but that are lazy fucks in reality. Again, the pain you will go through when spending your best years and a lot of cash with the wrong girl is terrible: you will beat yourself for not having read this chapter and listening to my advice.
